

THE BLAIRMORE ENTERPRISE

VOL. XIV., NO. 22.

BLAIRMORE, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, MAY 31, 1923.

$2.00 YEARLY

WILL RUN STAGE TO WATERTON LAKES

The Yellow Pennant stage line, owners of a line of cars that have been operating between Pass towns for the past year, made their first trip to Waterton Lakes with their Big Six Studebaker car on May 24th, carrying seven passengers.

They report a very good trip and good roads and are in a position to make trips by appointment for parties of four to seven to Waterton Lakes, Cardston, Fernie, Cranbrook, or other points east or west, with licensed drivers and comfortable cars.

BLAIRMORE'S TOURIST CAMP PRACTICALLY IN READINESS

Blairmore's tourist campsite is now being used by tourist parties, who are highly elated over the provisions being made here for their accommodation and comfort. They all claim that when completed, Blairmore's will be the finest campsite to be found along the route.

For the past two weeks several citizens have been busy carrying out the plans of the Board of Trade. The grounds have been cleaned of all underbrush. A shed about 12 x 16 feet of eight to nine foot post has been erected in the centre of the grounds. This is equipped with a first-class cooking stove, sink, benches and small table, so that parties may at any time of the day or night and in all weathers do their cooking, etc. A good supply of wood and coal will be placed nearby in a few days. Water is being extended by the town from the main to the shed, and lights are being placed at convenient points. Signs have been erected directing to the grounds, and a set of steps has been installed leading from the camp grounds to Victoria Street sidewalk.

In addition to the above, the Board of Trade is responsible for the signs which have been posted along the main trail during the week, drawing attention of the travelling stranger to points of interest, such as the Lumber Falls, Frank Slide, Frank Sulphur Springs, Turtle Mountain, Tent Mountain, Grassy Mountain, Crows' Nest Peak, the Blairmore Golf Course and Information Bureau. And later, mileage signs will be posted at every mile east and west of Blairmore between Crows' Nest and Lumber Falls.

COUNCIL PURCHASES STREET GRADER

The regular fortnightly meeting of the town council on Monday night was attended by Mayor McLeod, Councillors Evan Morgan, Owen Morgan, J. A. McDonald, Alex. Morency and W. Patterson, and Secretary Wright.

The minutes of the previous regular meeting were approved and read and the following accounts were passed for payment, subject to approval by various committees: J. Spence $150.00, W. Lorne $150.00, Blairmore Enterprise $6.35, F. E. Osborne $12.35, F. Wright $160.00, R. Carnochan $26.00, A. Siler $20.00, C. Bouthillier $26.00, George Bouthillier $4.00, R. Crayford $56.50, D. Sartoris $22.00, Kine's Printer $10.05, J. H. Farmer $6.00, Petty Cash $18.00, J. Foreman $9.00, J. Shafer $14.00, Tom Jones $2.50, W. Willoughby $36.00, J. Aschacher $24.00, Alberta Government Telephones $13.95, West Canadian Collieries $348.25, Northern Electric Co. $532.05.

Scavenging by-law, introduced by Councillor Morency, was ordered tabled for two weeks, as was also the proposed amendment to By-Law 76.

Plans and specifications submitted by H. Seay, E. J. Pozzi, R. Dielli, R. Lof, G. Vanoni, and S. Troto were approved and permits granted. Councillor Morency objected to the class of improvement outlined in the plans of R. Lof, claiming that the buildings in question would not be up to the standard in that locality and would have the tendency to cause depreciation in the values of his and other properties in the neighborhood.

W. Knight asked the council's endorsement of his application for provincial poolroom license, and Alex. Reid for endorsement of his application for restaurant license, both in connection with premises at the corner of Seventh Avenue and Victoria Street. Councillor Evan Morgan objected to any such recommendation and in so doing drew attention to the number of slot machines in operation in the town and the influence same are having upon the children and youths who are daily allowed to make use of them. On motion by Councillors J. A. McDonald and W. Patterson the applications were recommended.

Mr. Beatty approached the council with a view to selling a street grading outfit. On motion by Councillors McDonald and Morency, the council decided to purchase an eight-foot grader and scarifier, to cost $1285, payments to be spread over a period of three years.

Two darkies were talking outside a railroad office in Arkansas, and one of them ventured to ask the other what the telegrapher was doing. The other negro told him that he was telegraphing a message to Kansas City and was using the key to send it with. The other negro looked at his companion and said: "Nigger, how can he peck on that thing and talk to someone in Kansas City?" To which the other negro responded: "Nigger, if you was a big dog and your head was in Kansas City, and your tail was in Marked Tree, and someone in Marked Tree would step on your tail, wouldn't you bark in Kansas City?"

"Close call! Thanks!" Trowbridge said as he walked into his resting place and smiled up at her.

So close, indeed, had the call been that, coming upon the trail in the openings of the spot, Dorothy was white and her lips were trembling, but not more so than were the flanks of the horses, which seemed to be in an agon of fear. When the girl saw

Trowbridge pick up a withered stick and coolly explore the recesses of a small hole near which a snake had been coiled, she rebelled.

"I'm not going to stay here another minute," she declared boldly.

"Just a second. There may be another on there," he called out, as he whistled his pony and started off. "I'll catch you. Ride slow!"

He looked after her with a smile of amusement, before renewing his efforts with the stick, holding his reins with one hand so that his horse could not follow her. To his disappointment there seemed to be nothing in the hole, but his prodding suddenly developed an unpleasant surprise.

He was on the point of dropping the stick and mounting his horse, when he noticed a small piece of metal in the leaves and grass at the mouth of the hole. It was an empty cartridge shell.

"By glory!" he exclaimed, as he examined it. "A clew, or I'm a snail."

Swinging into his saddle, he raced after Dorothy, shouting to her as he did. In her panic she would not answer his hail, or turn in her saddle;

he was too reluctant to care. He was concerned only to find out whether he might tell her what he had found.

"Of the love of Mike!" he said, when by a liberal use of his spurs he caught up with her. "What do you think this is, a clew?"

"You can keep up, can't you?" she replied, looking at him.

"Sure, I can keep up, all right!" He reached out and caught her bridle reins, pulling her pony down to a walk in spite of her protests. "I want to show you something. You can't see it riding like a jockey. Look here!"

He handed her the shell, and she if it had come when you wanted to to, I wouldn't have found it. That's what she called the shell, and I called it a clew," he added, with a grin.

"Guess I'm some little Sherlock, after all."

"Where is it?" She turned the shell over in her palm a trifle gingerly.

"Look!" He took it from her and pointed out where it had been

by the firing-pin. "I reckon you wouldn't know, not being up to arms. The hammer that struck this shell didn't hit true; not so far off as to miss fire, you understand, but it didn't hit in the exact spot. That tells me a lot."

"What does it tell you?" She looked at him quickly.

"Well," he spoke slowly, "there ain't but one gun that's firing Water that has that peculiarity, that I know of, and that one belongs, or did belong, to Tug Bailey."

She caught at his arm impulsively

so that both horses were brought to a standstill.

"Then he shot Jensen, Lem?"

Her voice was tremulous with eagerness, for although she had never doubted Wade or Sautter, had never thought for a moment that either man could have committed the crime, or have planned it, she wanted to know clearly of the doubt in the eyes of the world. Her disappointment was acute when she saw that Trowbridge did not deem the shell to be convincing proof of Bailey's guilt.

"Don't go too far," said Dorothy.

he cautioned. "This shell proves that Bailey's gun was fired, but it doesn't prove that Bailey's finger pulled the trigger, or that the gun was aimed at Jensen. Bailey might have loaded the rifle to somebody else, or he might have fired at a snake, like I did a few minutes ago."

"Oh, he might have done anything, of course. But the shell is about evidence, isn't it? It casts the doubt on

Tug Bailey, doesn't it?"

"Yes, it does cast it right. It casts it further than him." The catleman spoke positively. "It's a clew, that's what it is. It's a clew, and we've got a motive, and we didn't have either of them yesterday."

"How do you suppose that?" she asked, where you found it?" She asked, her voice full of hope.

"Bailey must have leaved it out of his rifle, after the shooting, and it fell into this hole. You see—he could not point once more. 'If I hadn't stopped to look for another rattler, I never would have found it. Just that chance—just a little chance like that —throws the biggest gimble. Puny, ain't it?" But she was too preoccupied with the importance of the discovery to dwell on his gifts as a sleuth.

"What can we do now, if I, Lem?"

She gave her pony head and they began to move slowly. "What ought we to do?"

"I'll find this fellow, Bailey, and write the truth out of him," he answered grimly, and her eyes sparkled.

"I'm not greatly mistaken, though,"

she said only the two.

"Meaning that Moran"

"And Rehill," Trowbridge snapped.

"They are the men higher up, and the game was really running for. They hired Bailey to shoot Jensen so that the crime might be fastened on to Gordon. I believe that's what they planned. I'm alive this minute; the point is to prove it."

"We've got to waste no time," he said, touching her pony with the quirt.

"We mustn't linger here. Suppose Bailey has been shot. Suppose he's dead. We must get on. The thought of this caused them to urge their tired horses along at speed.

Sautter, who was following them, also followed Trowbridge looked admiring-ly at his companion as she rode on.

Although, side by side with the single man himself, he had come to feel very tenderly toward her, but he had no hope of winning her. She had never been more than good friends with him, and he realized her feeling for him. His knowledge did not make him less keen in his admirations of her.

"Good luck to you, Lem," she said,

giving him her hand, as they paused

Transforming Amsterdam

Holland's Architects Are Building Houses at Lowest Cost
Confronted with a housing shortage after the war, Holland undertook to remedy the situation with three fundamental ideas in mind, efficiency, economy and beauty.

The government gave subsidies. At first these were $1,000.00 a house; to first with building material cheaper the rate is $125.00. No people are able to make money go as far as in the Dutch, even when it is public money. Jobbery seems to be practically unknown. But although the work has been done economically, Amsterdam has been transformed.

The old Amsterdam with its picturesque, narrow streets and lanes, its narrow canals in the city and its larger surrounding canals, is spreading out into new suburbs with wide roads and fine avenues and parks. Holland's best architects are co-operating with the town council to build the best houses at the lowest possible cost.

The architects concerned have taken pride in obtaining the most delightful effects with the cheapest material. It is not what housing has cost the city, that they talk about, but how much it has saved the city. That is the Dutch brand of civic pride.

Regains Lost Sight After Illness at Sea

London Post Cured During Voyage From South Africa

Edmund Gilson, a London post-boarder, a liner at Durban totally blind. He landed at Southampton, his vision completely recovered. During the voyage Gilson fell deliciously ill and for some time was unconscious. Then his sight, which he lost in the war, gradually came back as he slowly recovered from his illness.

"I went to South Africa," said Gilson, "chasing the change might do me good, and it was there the sight of one eye came back. But after a time I was totally blind again. Eventually I made up my mind to come to London to consult a specialist. I could see nothing on embarking and had to be helped up the gangway. It was during the voyage the remarkable thing happened. It is wonderful!"

Defends Eiffel Tower

General Ferie Says It Is Necessary to Paris

Periodically artistic Paris calls for the destruction of the Eiffel Tower as a blemish on the city's skyline. On April 13, La Cri de Paris, became the mouthpiece of the critics, and added that the demolition of the structure had been officially decided upon. This caused General Ferie, Inspector of the Military Telegraph Service, to make the usual defense of the tower, relating its scientific and military achievements and future purposes, declaring that it was no more a blemish on the landscape above than the Seine was below, and adding: "The Eiffel Tower is a necessity. If there were no Eiffel Tower, it would be necessary to construct one." —New York Times.

Bones Betray Age

X-Ray Photographs Can Determine Age of Individuals by Condition of Bones

X-ray of Tutankhamen's mummy will settle the dispute as to his age when he died, says Prof. Flinders Petrie. A few years ago X-ray photographs were admitted in an Indian Law Court as evidence of age. The case concerned a transfer of property by a certain Behari Lal, who was alleged to be under 21 years of age, and therefore disqualified from executing the transfer. Eight X-ray plates were produced showing the condition of Behari Lal's bones with regard to the joining of the cartilages to the shafts of the bones, and expert witnesses agreed that these plates showed that the age of the youth was between 16 years and 19 years. So there need be no uncertainty about a lady's age if future.

Deeds Or Words?

Loquacious Individuals Often Elected to Run Affairs of the Country

"What of America?" tells how George Washington, the leading citizen of Virginia, elected to the house of burgesses, was overcome by embarrassment in making his first speech to that assembly, so he was unable to proceed. Whereupon Speaker Robinson came to his rescue with these graceful words: "Sit down, Mr. Washington. Your modesty is equal to your valor, and that surpasses any language that I can say." Speaker Robinson, whom nobody ever heard of, was evidently an accomplished orator, equal to any emergency on his feet. Washington, the ablest man of his generation, could not make a speech. That sort of situation often exists today. But unfortunately the speech makers are usually the one the people elect to run their Government. —Kansas City Times.

Greater Problems Coming
Sir John Willison predicts that during the next twenty-five years Canada will have the most remarkable array of expansion ever known. Canada, he says, will grow beyond the dream of any optimist, and he adds that the prospect is sobering as well as alluring.

Certainly much progress will bring its responsibilities as well as its privileges. One of our big problems now is to secure population; but it will be really after we have begun to grow in earnest that we will begin to have great problems. —Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

Wipe From Glass

German wigmakers are now manufacturing and marketing toupees, the hair of which is spun from glass. The manufacturers claim that their experiments, supplemented by the actual experience of owners of heads of glass hair, has shown the new product to be the very best substitute for real hair yet devised.

Charming, simple and in good taste, warm enough to be comfortable on chill days of early spring, yet loose enough to allow free circulation of air, and designed to be worn in a charming of what I may call a "chirrup" of the dress for a school girl? Such is this little frock of marine blue wool, embroidered with white "snowflakes."

Canada Exports Sugar

One of the most important features which has occurred in the sugar industry of Canada for many years is the development of large shipments to foreign markets. During the past year the total shipments from Canadian refineries amounted to 316,551,427 pounds of refined sugar. Nearly 50 countries in all parts of the world imported Canadian refined sugar last year.

Medicine Hat Keeps on the Map

Brick industrial activity prevails at Medicine Hat. The Alberta Clay Products have received orders from two British Columbia pulp mills, which it is expected will run to about fifty cars. It is understood that the Canadian Farm Implement Company intends erecting a plant in the city during the summer.

So, being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it.

Spelling Change Suggested

Movement to Eliminate Superfluous Letters That Are Not Sounded in Speech

Professor Walter Hipman, Chief Inspector to the University of London, has proposed to the English Association the holding of an Imperial-American conference to establish a standard form of English speech and to preserve it in the best possible spelling. His suggestion was made at a meeting of the association, held at 123 Charing Cross Road, April 10.

The professor held that the dropping of "d" in handkerchief was a distinct gain. The word was a perfectly sane one, but it was too long of course. It was much to be desired that we should say "hanky" instead—a word quite good enough. Sensible people preferred "gram" to "perambulator," and "movie" to "cinematograph." The dropping of "l" in castle was a manifest gain of a similar kind. So long as there was no ambiguity (as there was not in "castles") there was nothing to be said against it. Those who used a pestle and mortar called the first a "pestel," but people who did not, and knew it only from literary sources, pronounced the "r." The dropping of "p" in pneumonia was perfectly justifiable. We had actually gone so far as to try to pronounce the "n" in "kin," but he had not yet come across the person who tried to pronounce the "n" in "autumn."

MRS. GOODWIN GIVES HER EXPERIENCE WITH DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Nova Scotia Lady After Suffering With Weakness and Nervousness for Nearly Three Years, Turns to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

McGraw, N.S.—(Special).—"I cannot recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills enough." This enthusiastic statement is made by Mrs. Alex Goodwin, a well known resident of this place. "For nearly three years I was run down, had a very weak heart and was so nervous that at times I would almost faint away. Many people recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills for my troubles. I found, after I had taken two boxes, that they were doing me good and after using six boxes I was completely restored. I can now do a good day's work and scarcely ever feel tired."

Sanitation Prevents Typhoid

Typhoid fever as a cause of death has almost disappeared in cities, where the water supply and the sanitation can be controlled. Last year in the larger cities the death rate from typhoid fell to 3.15 to the 100,000, less than a sixth of what it was twelve years ago. Back in 1909 it was about 80 to the 100,000. The improvement has not been so rapid in rural districts, but the situation was never so bad there as it used to be in the cities.

Declares Tanlac Restored Her When Stomach Trouble Had Almost Wrecked Health

"I weighed only a hundred and fourteen pounds, my face was sallow and sunken and I was this as a rule. But since taking Tanlac I weigh one hundred and forty-eight, have the rosy cheeks of a school girl, and enjoy good health for the first time in fifteen years." This remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. Bess Young, 98 Cathcart St., Hamilton, Ontario.

"The last year of my sickness I was near a nervous breakdown, and my appetite was so poor even the odor of food was nauseating. My head aches, pains in my stomach and back nearly set me wild and I would walk the floor for hours. I got so weak I could hardly stoop over to lace my shoes, and my housework was a burden."

"The Tanlac treatment gave me a wonderful appetite, built me up till friends wondered at my great change, and I always feel strong and well. I will never cease to praise Tanlac."

Doubles Weight in Year

Experiments With Salmon Family Disclose Interesting Information

Experiments made in England furnish interesting information regarding the rapidity of growth of fish of the salmon family during their stay in the sea.

A sea trout weighing three pounds when captured and marked July 5, 1921, weighed six pounds when taken in July, 1922, having thus doubled in weight in one year. A thirteen-pound salmon taken and marked in January, 1921, weighed twenty-one pounds in June, 1922; and another salmon weighing sixteen pounds in August, 1921, reached the weight of twenty-two pounds when retaken in July, 1922.

An example of still more extraordinary growth has been reported. A male salmon caught at Castle Connell on February 24, 1921, weighed nineteen pounds. It was marked by one of the tags used by the Board of Agriculture, bearing the number 1,602, and replaced in the water. On March the 26th it was taken as a male fish was retaken at O'Brien's Bridge, five miles from Castle Connell, and then weighed thirty-three pounds. Its weight had increased by fourteen pounds in one month and two days. The fact may seem incredible, but it is indubitable, having been substantiated by a naval certificate.

His friend started at him solemnly. "Mon," he said, "this is no heaven."

STUDEBAKER SALES SHOW

67.6 PER CENT INCREASE

According to a report of the Studebaker Corporation, sales of Studebaker Cars for the first three months of 1929 were 38,211 cars as against 22,801 cars in the same period of 1928, an increase of 67.6 per cent.

These figures indicate that Studebaker bids fair to establish another sales record in 1929. The steady increase in Studebaker sales has been the subject of much comment in the automobile world. 1921 (a year in which automobile sales as a whole increased 45 per cent) saw Studebaker sales increase 29 per cent. This record was followed by a 65 per cent increase in 1922 sales, which amounted 110,249 cars valued at $130,000,000.

LOCAL RECIPROCITY

"Trade goes by favor," is an old saying. If a man takes no effort to throw business advantages in the way of his neighbor, he cannot expect that they will be much interested in his prosperity. Yet a great many people who are dependant on the industries of this town for their success, will buy in some other city, merely because they are going to save a margin of a few cents.

The chances are that if they gave their alleged "bargains" the same careful examination they would apply to them in a home store, they would never pay down good money for them. But that is another story.

When you buy goods away from home, you cut yourself loose from the business interests of your own town. You declare that you have nothing to gain by the friendship of your neighbors or the prosperity of your community. On the purely sentimental side, one has little admiration for this lack of town spirit. There is an element of disloyalty in refusing to help build up the community which provides for your home and the comforts and conveniences of civilization.

By laying aside all questions of sentiment, why not consider the advantages of making business friends at home? Every time you buy goods in a home store you create a personal relation that may be very profitable. This is particularly the case where you have anything to sell at home. The man who gets your patronage becomes personally interested in you. If you are in business here, the spirit of reciprocity prompts him to patronize your establishment. Even if you work for salary or wages, the relations you create in the home store, by patronizing the home dealer, may be exceedingly valuable in some future exigency. The man to whom you have given your trade becomes your friend, and if he can find some way to throw favors in your direction, he is glad to do it.—B.S.

TRANS-CANADA "RED TRAIL" RUNS THROUGH LETHBRIDGE

Mention is made in Calgary and Edmonton papers of the Trans-Canada motor highway so-called which, it is stated will turn northwest at Medicine Hat to Calgary, thence on by way of the Banff-Windermere trail to the northwestern states and coast.

The fact of the matter is that the Red Trail, the officially recognized Trans-Canada highway runs east and west across Southern Alberta, passing through Lethbridge, thence on to Macleod, the Crows' Nest Pass, Cranbrook and Nelson to Vancouver. It is the Bee Line between Winnipeg and Vancouver, and the logical southern route across the Dominion.

MILLIONS

Henry Ford, it is reported, is the richest man in the world. The statement is based on assets of more than half a billion dollars for the Ford Motor company, listed with the Massachusetts commissioner of corporations. One of the outstanding romances of American industrial life is the story of Ford's rise to affluence and influence from the day 20 years ago when he and his wife tried in vain to get credit for $150 from a Detroit shopkeeper when they wanted a chicken for their Sunday dinner.

At the same time the wires bring the story of a bequest of $1,000,000 to a boy of 14. He must wait till he becomes of age to get it, but for the next seven years he will be aware

HIGHWAY GRANTS

OTTAWA, May 20.—By the end of 1924, the province of Ontario, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and British Columbia will have earned the sums allotted to them for highway construction under the Canada Highway Act, according to the statement made in the House recently by Hon. Geo. I. Graham, minister of railways and canals.

Some interesting figures were given by the minister showing the amounts allotted and the amounts earned up to the end of 1922 by the various provinces. The provinces the amounts allotted and the sums earned are as follows:

Province	Allotted	Earned
Alberta	$1,475,910	Nil
B. Columbia	$1,251,055	$5,145,283.87
Manitoba	602,265	$25,964.21
N. Bruns.	1,163,845	11,005,479.26

THE LOCAL PAPER

An ex-Governor has the following to say about the value of a local paper to the community:

"Each year the local paper gives from $600 to $1000 in free lines to the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his own town than any other ten men, and in all fairness he ought to be supported not because you like him or admire his writings, but because the local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be brilliantly edited or crowded with thought, but financially it is of more benefit to the community than the preacher or the teacher. Understand me, I do not mean mentally, and yet on moral questions you will find most of the papers on the right side. Today the editors of local papers do the most for the least money of any people on earth."

A REAL TEMPERANCE LAW

"Ever since May 1st, 1921, when the new license law of the province of Quebec came into effect, open testimony to its moral success and effective results from the view point of temperance, has been offered by all unbiased unprejudiced men. Mr. Geo. Buchanan Fife, whose report was published in the New York Evening World, and Mr. George McAdams, whose findings were reported in the New York Times, concluded that the Quebec Liquor Act had proven highly successful, especially in reducing drunkenness, bootlegging and the illicit manufacture of liquor. The people being behind the law, the law is observed. The use of light beer and wines is decreasing with a converse decrease in the use of hard liquor. Quebec may well be confident that it has solved the liquor problem. Total prohibition cannot be the ultimate solution. If the futility and general failure of prohibitory laws in the United States and elsewhere did not serve as evidence, we would still be sufficiently warned by the earnest entreaty of Montesquieu: "I shall ever repeat that mankind is not governed by extremes, but by principles of moderation."—Academy Recorder, N. S.

The present United States dance records were broken 1,000 years ago, according to manuscripts discovered in Mount St. Michael Monastery. A Benedictine Monk in the year 1068 received a German pilgrim named Rathbert, who recounted the history of a miracle in which a sinner danced 265 days without stopping as penance.

ROME, May 22.—Pope Pius made a severe attack on the Soviets today. At a secret consistory held for the creation of Cardinals Naselli and Bencini he took occasion to make a political speech.

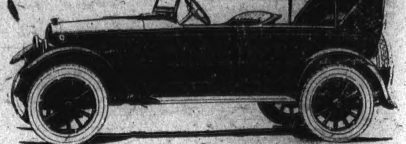

Pope Pius asserted that Soviet Russia had persecuted, imprisoned and ever killed ministers of God who were trying to save the souls for God of tens of thousands of Russians who were dying morally and physically.

The Pope added that the persecued prelates will be considered as martyrs and will cause many conversions to Catholicism.

Pope Pius also spoke on the Ruhr question, regretting that the conflict continues and hoping that a solution will be found soon. The Pope also reaffirmed the statement that he will demand that the holy places in Jerusalem be placed under the protection of the Catholic church.

A SAFE CAR TO BUY

Backed by $82,000,000 of resources:

There is no element of chance in the purchase of a Studebaker Light-Six. Its safety is backed by a record of 23,000,000 of resources and a seventy-one year old reputation for high quality and fair dealing.

Since the Light-Six was introduced, more than 100,000 have been sold. From the beginning, its remarkable performance, sturdy construction and unusual economy have been widely recognized. But today the Light-Six represents an even finer motor car than at its inception, for it bears the improvements that Studebaker's large engineering staff has been ever alert to adopt with a view toward making a good product better.

Studebaker's leadership in six-cylinder sales is further assurance of merit. Sales in 1927 totaled 110,249 cars valued at more than $130,000,000. One buyer may make a mistake in the selection of a motor car, but not one hundred and ten thousand!

In fairness to yourself, you should see the Studebaker Light-Six before you buy any car.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Cowley's Empire Day celebration was a complete success, that being the finest sample of weather we have had this year. —about two thousand people enjoyed the holiday on the spacious grounds, where a large programme of horse races was run off in a clean, orderly manner. A large delegation of (P)elgian Indians were present and participated in the various sports of horse racing, winning a goodly share. A polo match between North Fork and Puck Creek teams was won by Puck Creek. The baseball match between Bellevue and a scratch local team was easily won by Bellevue, by 13 to 3. A bucking contest ended the field sports. The winners in the various events were as follows:

Saddle horse race—1st, Halroyd; 2nd, Big Bull; Half-mile open—1st, Halroyd; 2nd, Cox. Half-mile pony—1st, Easterbrook; 2nd, Ecoston. Relay race—1st, Lew; 2nd, Yellow Horn. Walk, trot and run—1st, Mrs. Foley; 2nd, Jones. Half-mile, ladies—1st, Miss Alternatt; 2nd, Mrs. Foley. Half-mile Indian—1st, Little Mow-tache; 2nd, Big Swan. Half-mile squad (by men)—1st, Little Mow-tache, 2nd, Little Leaf. Mile, open—1st, Cox; 2nd, Crazy Boy. Bucking match—1st, Johnson; 2nd, Vaille.

In the evening about 250 enjoyed a dance in the spacious dance hall, the best of music being furnished by Mrs. Alternatt's orchestra.

Rainfall for the month of May was about four inches, the most in years, and prospects are good for a bountiful crop.

Dancers in France are now obliged to wear "modesty bumpers" consisting of three projecting steel bars the size of a finger with padded ends. The bars are attached to the lady's belt while dancing in order to prevent close contact of bodies.

MODERN GOLF

By W. G. & Frank Thompson

NOTED CANADIAN GOLFERS

GOLF DON'TS

Don't try to keep the head still, absurd as this may sound, for the stationary head is the result of a good swing, and not the cause of it. As we have seen, although the head does not move up or down, or from side to side, it does twist a small but appreciable amount because of the turning of the shoulders. Any attempt to fixate it, as in a vise, will, in all probability, result in two things—other, stultifying the body or causing it to break at the waist. There is nothing more assiduous and irritating than to be told continually, as an explanation of every fumbled shot, that the player moved his head. The head can be kept ever so still and yet the worst kind of shots follow. Any instructor who persists in this sort of advice should be "cracked" over the head with a niblick, and I am sure the perpetrators of this charitable act could be acquitted by a jury of twelve beginners on the plea of justifiable homicide.

Don't try to accomplish the impossible. A player should have a fifty-fifty chance of "pulling-off" a proposed shot. Some players attempt to get out of a bunker when close to the wall, with an iron, which feat would be difficult with a niblick.

Don't be short either on the green or when approaching the hole. Statistics show that over ninety per cent of all shots to the hole are short.

Don't try to remember every point about the swing while executing the stroke. The swing should be automatic, with everything eliminated except the ball, which should stand out as prominently as a red flag to a bull.

"The centipede was happy quite, Until the load in fun Said, 'Pray which foot comes after which?'"

Don't give up until your opponent has holes out in fewer strokes, for who knows, as the old Scotch caddy says, that "he may no fa' doon deid?"

Don't make excuses for your bad play or belittle your opponent's good shots, or commiserate his bad ones. Even if sincere, you will be misunderstood. Your duty is done when you are not patently elated at his bad shots, nor unduly depressed over his good ones.

Don't deliberately try "to get your opponent's goat," for it is just as much a breach of the rules and spirit of the game to get on your opponent's nerves by insinuations and suggestions as to interfere with the physical execution of his stroke.

Don't be upset by an adverse turn of luck. Remember that in the long run luck neutralizes itself.

Don't take things for granted; Play every hole to the card. When once a player lets up it will be difficult to concentrate again, and the winding of a hole under such circumstances has a stimulating effect on your opponent.

Remember a sick man is the hardest to beat. Apparently golf being a game of repressed energy the sick man is naturally in this frame of mind.

Don't follow the advice of anyone unless the reason is clearly understood. Then follow it only if it fits with the general mechanics of the swing. Tips are good if they go to the root of the matter; but if merely antidotes, reject them.

Don't play too much with the same player, especially if he is an inferior one, as one unconsciously imitates. Even Mitchell was temporarily thrown off his drive by copying Duncan in his stance in placing his left foot in position prior to his right, which was the reverse of Mitchell's habitual method.

Don't play too much on the same course, as one gets used to the distances and also the same shots. No two courses are the same, and for this reason more practice in judging distance will be had by playing on various courses.

Don't forget the waggle. It limbers up the muscles prior to the actual stroke; no matter what other points star players differ in, they all imbue in a waggle.

Don't be continually changing your club, nor have too many clubs, if for no other reason than that it is extravagant. Besides, if you have too many clubs it will be confusing and difficult to select the appropriate one.

Don't hero-worship by using the same ball as the long-hitter. The average player should use a softer cored ball than that used by the pros, because it is more easily compressed and runs better.

Don't give up. The first seven years are the worst. Who knows but you are just coming into your stride. (Copyrighted British & Colonial Press, Limited).

Pension Given for Bunion Recidived

The inexorable logic of "red tape" played a trick on a veteran of Aberdeen, Scotland. The man was incapacitated during the war through an injury to his foot, and when a large bunion appeared on the affected member, he was given a small pension. However, the bunion in time developed into a more serious disability, and a few weeks ago it was found necessary to amputate the foot at the ankle. The former soldier has just been notified by the ministry of pensions that his grant has been withdrawn because the original disability has passed away.

GREENLAND ON THE MOVE

Greenland is moving westward at the rate of twenty yards a year, according to Lieut.-Colonel P. J. Jensen, a Danish scientist, who returned recently from a degree-measuring expedition in Greenland. This confirms the recent reports of surprising climatic changes at the north pole. It is now established that there is a shifting of the latitude of the north pole. This movement is difficult to detect, because of the small area of the pole—about the size of a tennis court. Potsdam observatory reports a slow march northward. The observatory at Ukiah, California, reports a similar change. The coast of Labrador is rising from the sea. Many authorities say that the poles are gradually changing their positions and that this alteration to the world's axis will in time mean that regions which are at present ice-bound will become warm, habitable countries.

SENTENCED TO DIE FOR KILLING MAN

Following was clipped from a German newspaper of recent date by Henry Walter, former porter at the Cosmopolitan hotel, and now a resident of his old home town, Lahti, Baden, Germany:

THURSDAY, April 6.—Farm labor is scarce in this locality and farmers find it impossible to secure men who will work on the farm. In order to overcome this difficulty many are purchasing tractors, as they claim that the prices have been lowered they can purchase one as cheaply as a good team of horses, and it is possible to accomplish more work with one tractor than with three teams of horses.

CARD OF THANKS

The thanks of the executive of the Board of Trade are due, firstly, to themselves for having undertaken and complete a work in the very best interest of the community, without assistance of volunteers, for which they prayed; secondly to Mr. Harry Burns, of the McLaren Lumber Company, for supplying free of charge all the lumber needed for the campsite for the erection of sheds and steps; and to a few others for valuable opinions expressed.

It is hoped that all those who have manifested absolutely no interest in this connection will in due time be fully rewarded.

FIVE PHYSICIANS PRESCRIBE SAME MEDICINE AT SEA

United States Shipping board boats in port recently told of the terrible jokes that are perpetrated on them when out at sea where prohibition is not in force.

The first officer of one of these freighters was taken ill one day in mid-ocean and not having a doctor aboard wireless messages were broadcast to ships on the Pacific asking for advice as to what to do to alleviate the pain.

Five boats reported back: "Give him a good swig of whiskey."

Being a dry boat the captain and the wireless operator groaned at the quietude of prescriptions, but the second officer, under stress of circumstances, produced a bottle of the remedy just as his comrade thought he was going down into Davy Jones' locker.

Some of the boats will not be without liquor for medicinal purposes and if they cannot get it before leaving United States ports they try to procure it at sea from some other boat.

Extensive Changes Are Proposed In The New Budget Resolutions

Ottawa.—With the budget debate out of the way and the Government proposals carried in the House, the members will give immediate attention to the budget resolutions.

While the reports of the special agriculture committee and the banking and commerce committee are not expected to come before the Commons for some little time, there is sufficient material yet on the order paper to keep the House going until those reports come down. The amendments to the Pension Act, designed to make effective recommendations of the Balfour Royal Commission, will be placed before the House shortly, it is understood.

The length of the session, it is now believed, will depend to a great extent upon the length of time required for passage of revisions of the Bank Act. While the Government is understood to have decided to go ahead with the revision, it is thought that the attempts to lay the act over for another year will be renewed when the bill reaches the House. Present expectations are that the session will continue until June 15 or later.

The changes contained in the new budget resolutions introduced by the finance minister are somewhat more extensive than was indicated in the brief statement which he made in the House of Commons. They include changes in the tariff, the excise duty on beer, and the tax on confectionery and beverages. The new sales tax will not come into force until January 1, 1924, instead of on the first of August next.

The reduction in the maximum tax on checks from two dollars to one dollar goes into effect when assented to by the governor-in-council.

The repeal of the special taxes on confectionery and beverages goes into effect on June 1, and does also the substituted tax on carbonic acid gas.

In addition to postponing the date for the coming into force of the new sales tax to January 1, 1924, the minister proposes several other changes. There is to be removed from the list of exceptions from the sales tax job printing matter of a firm, whose sales do not exceed $10,000.

There is added to the list of exemptions: Manuscript, raw fur, wool not further prepared than washed and scoured, and skins for agricultural purposes and syrups and molasses of all kinds.

The conditions attending the operation of the new sales tax are also amended in a number of matters, including the provision in regard to refunds and in regard to the special licenses to jobbers.

The resolutions as they stand, said Mr. Fielding, in making the announcement, provide that the dumping duty shall not apply on sugar when the price of that commodity reaches eight cents a pound.

"We are proposing to make a limitation," he said. "We propose that the dumping duty shall continue, but that it shall be limited to at no time exceed three-quarters of a cent a pound."

"The item of newspaper is omitted from the exemptions to the sales tax," said the minister. "Owing to a misunderstanding this was not asked for by any body and it was inserted for customs purposes, but, at all events, we are not pressing it."

Mr. Fielding, said that further information regarding these changes would be furnished to members at a later date.

Immigration Law Amended

British Subjects Can Now Be Deported For Seditious Acts

Ottawa.—The Senate amended the Immigration Bill by striking out the clause which removes British subjects from the operation of the deportation provisions of the present act. Under these provisions, which were inserted following the Winnipeg strike of 1919, any person other than a native born Canadian who seeks to overthrow by force constituted authority can, during the first five years of his residence, be deported after an inquiry by the Immigration Department. Sir George Foster asked why exception was made in favor of people from Great Britain, and Senator Fowler said the most dangerous men came from the British Isles.

Senator Robertson said that two years ago he had favored the removal of citizens from Great Britain from the jurisdiction of this clause, but he had altered his mind in some respects, and while the Communist party sought to spread Russian propaganda in this country, it was well to retain the act as it was.

A Galaxy of Nations

Premier King Sends Empire Day Message to London Times

London.—The stern logic of events has crystallized into a formula, the words of Sir Winston Churchill on the occasion of Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee, when, with characteristic prophetic insight and vision, he spoke of the British Empire as a galaxy of nations," says Premier W. L. Mackenzie King, of Canada, in an Empire Day message published in the London Times.

"The choice of words was a happy one," the message says. "No longer are they capable of misinterpretation and misunderstanding."

"With each recurring anniversary of the birthday of the world's most illustrious sovereign, the outlying Dominions welcome the opportunity of celebrating with the British Isles all that they owe to common origin, common tradition and common ideals. Among the nations of the world there is nothing comparable to this expression of union, purpose and co-operative effort on the part of each for the good of the whole."

SINKING OF THE MARVALLE

BEST TRADITIONS OF BRITISH SEAMANSHIP UPHOLD WHEN VESSEL STRIKES REEF

St. John's, Nfld.—The four hundred and thirty-six passengers and crew of the Canadian Pacific liner, Marvalle, were saved in the lifeboats as the vessel went down near St. Shotts on the southern coast of Newfoundland, after striking Cape Freles Rock.

The story of the rescue, as described by Capt. Lewis of the Marvalle, follows: "We thought we were four miles off shore," the captain said. "We were working along the coast in the fog by the sound of the Cape Freles fog alarm, believing ourselves safe, but the ship struck a rock, went down on the reef and tore her side out. She hung on the rock for a moment and then slid into deep water again. I knew she was lost and decided to make for the beach."

Two of the Marvalle's seamen who accompanied Captain Lewis to Trepassy said that the people of the liner owed their lives to the captain's seamanship and judgment, and the fact that the water was smooth. A situation with all the possibilities of disaster was present, but not a person was even injured.

Immediately after the Marvalle struck, the captain headed her for St. Shotts, where there was a sandy spit to beach her and a hamlet to shelter the survivors. Taking no chances with his people, however, he ordered the boats overboard at once and began loading them with passengers. The fine weather and smooth sea made this task fairly easy. The women and children took their places in the boats first, then other passengers and most of the crew followed in charge of the boats were instructed to follow the ship in the direction of the land, which was beginning to be visible through the fog by this time. The first lifeboat dropped overboard held 20 bables and their mothers.

Captain Lewis and the few officers and engineers and stokers who remained on board to drive her ashore left the vessel just before she went down in seven fathoms, a mile from the beach at St. Shotts, which had been her destination.

More Building This Year

Dominion Statistics Show Twenty-Five Per Cent Increase

Ottawa.—A pronounced expansion in building operations during April was indicated in the monthly reports of building permits furnished by municipal officials to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The aggregate value of the building authorized by the 66 cities making returns stood at $17,544,061, $8,999,833 or 105.3 per cent higher than in March, when the prospective building was estimated at $8,544,225. The value for April, moreover, exceeded that for the corresponding month of last year by $3,496,883 or 24.5 per cent. It was also higher by 42 and 18 per cent than in April, 1921 and 1920, respectively.

"It is a wonderful advance in building," said Premier Greenwood, speaking of the co-operative pool method. "It means getting for farmers the full value of their cattle to Great Britain."

"We have been preaching co-operative marketing of cattle for years in Saskatchewan," said Premier Dunning, and were delighted when the former method of co-operative shipping to western markets was broadened out by the pool method to cover the final marketing of cattle. We are watching with great interest the extension of the co-operative plan to cover the exporting of cattle to Great Britain."

"What appeals to me most," said Premier Bracken, "is the system by which cattle are sorted up before they are offered for sale. I am sure this plan of selling is going to bring more money to farmers, especially those who are raising the better grades of cattle. It means developing our cattle industry by encouraging the men who are breeding and feeding the right kind of cattle."

Claims Discovery Of Cancer Cure

Liverpool Professor Not Yet Ready To Disclose Remedy

New York.—An apparent cure for cancer, consisting of a solution of coloidal lead, which is an enemy of diseased tissues, has been discovered by Prof. Blair Bell, of Liverpool University, according to Dr. L. E. Houghay, of Concordia, Kas., who returned to the President Adams after studying surgery abroad for several years. Dr. Bell, professor of genology, spent 18 years in developing the cure, said Dr. Houghay, who added that during the last year Dr. Bell had treated more than 60 cancer cases and in none of these did the disease return. The cure has not been made known to the world because of Dr. Bell's reluctance and his desire to treat more cases before making it generally known.

Quebec.—Official announcement that Rev. The Premier said: "We have ordered the immediate transfer of Abbe Delorme to Montreal, and he will stand trial at the June term of the criminal assizes."

Three Prairie Premiers Endorse Co-Operative Cattle Selling

Premier Greenwood of Alberta, Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan, and Premier Bracken of Manitoba, visited the Union Stockyards, St. Boniface, Man., in order to inspect a thousand head of export steers gathered for shipment to British markets under the co-operative pooling plan inaugurated by United Grain Growers Ltd. In three different consignments these are on the way to Glasgow, in Duff for the co-operative pool method of marketing cattle.

The present Opposition in the House of Commons is the most energetic and vigorous Parliament has had in many years, and it is felt necessary that the first minister of state must be in the Commons to meet the attacks of this Opposition.

The new prime minister, like his predecessor, has graduated from trade and, also like Mr. Bonar Law, from the iron trade. Neither of these men were trained for politics but adopted politics after a successful commercial career. This also is a departure to some extent from British traditions, the statesmen in the past being to a very large extent recruited from the ranks of the aristocracy or the legal profession. This crony of the legal profession, the new premier the support and confidence of the commercial and financial world which will be a great asset for him.

Mr. Baldwin will now proceed to appoint a new ministry, and the general belief is that for the most part the present ministers will be reappointed, but this is by no means certain.

FAVORS H. B. ROUTE

STATEMENT IN SENATE THAT GOVERNMENT WILL OPERATE RAILWAY

Ottawa.—In the Senate, Hon. Rufus Pope drew attention to the importance of the Hudson Bay district, and asked what the Government intended to do to make this route available to traffic. He had in his possession an authentic report of German activity previous to the war, when the German Government equipped unsinkable ships and sent them into Hudson Bay, where they navigated the straits every day of the year. The north country had a wonderful mineral wealth and fishery production, and also had oil fields and tar sands which could be developed under the present freight rates.

Senator Gasquet wanted this report submitted to the members of the Senate.

Senator Dandurand informed the House that the Government had not abandoned the Hudson Bay route, and would operate the railway, so that the investment made would not be lost.

Senator Fowler claimed the Hudson Bay route would be the great cattle route for the west, and would develop the mineral wealth of that enormous territory.

Easter Island Still Safe

Report that Island Had Sunk Beneath Pacific Is Now Denied

Santiago, Chile.—Recurrent rumors that Easter Island had sunk beneath the Pacific during the intense earthquakes of last November have been proved unfounded. The fishing schooner Valdivia, which had been on the island in February, has returned, reporting that all was well.

The island, which is used by the Chilean Government as a penal colony, has a population of about 1,200. It is the most isolated inhabited member of the Polynesian group, and is remarkable for its giant pieces of sculpture, apparently the work of a prehistoric people. The island lies 2,500 miles west of the Chilean coast.

Faced with the necessity, according to these reports, of going beyond the ranks of the active export trades for a chairman and vice-chairman of the proposed board, there is a strong probability, it is stated, that the two premiers will offer the positions to J. H. Henshaw of Regina, and Thomas St. George of Regina, both of whom are active in agricultural problems. Mr. St. George is a practical farmer and a director of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company and the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association.

It is suggested that Mr. Greenwood and Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan are meeting this year the same difficulty which made impossible the organization of a board last fall. Authoritative reports indicate that James Stewart of Winnipeg, and F. W. Riddell of Regina, again have refused to accept responsibility for the board and indicate further that others prominent in the grain export business who Washington.—Reports from Ottawa that Premier King expects to take up the subject of sending a Canadian representative to Washington have aroused renewed interest here in this much-discussed subject.

According to gossip here, the actual sending of a Canadian representative to this country is likely to wait until after the imperial conference at London next fall. However, it is generally expected the problem will be solved, and that it will not be a great while before Canada will have direct representative in the United States capital. Such representation will meet with general approval in Congress and official quarters.

It is the understanding in Washington that Premier King, when Canada does send a representative, intends to choose the ablest he can find—a man who will at once be on good terms with the British embassy and at the same time a looking-forward Canadian, capable of looking after Canada's extensive interests in the exchanges of formal and informal diplomacy between that country and the United States.

It is the feeling of the United States' officials and members of Congress that it would be mutual advantage to the two countries if such problems as reciprocity, the development of the St. Lawrence and the many other problems which exist or arise from time to time, could be taken up directly, and with the least possible formality. It is said to be likely that when Canada does send a direct representative to Washington, he will be, among other things, a man who will have a thorough understanding of the agricultural problems and agricultural sentiment both of Western Canada and the United States.

Clause In Debt Pact To Be Withdrawn

Prohibited United States From Collecting Direct From Germany

Paris.—Sir John Bradbury, British representative in the negotiations over the payment of the costs of the United States army of occupation, is understood to have received instructions from London to withdraw from the agreement the clause to which the United States objected, and thus come into agreement with France and Belgium as to accepting the United States draft without further charge. The objectionable clause stipulated that the agreement should cease to be effective if the United States proceeded to collect war damages from Germany directly.

Hon. Stanley Baldwin Succeeds Bonar Law As Britain's Prime Minister

London.—Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, is the British prime minister in succession to Right Hon. Andrew Bonar Law. Having followed the constitutional practice and ascertained the views of the Conservative leaders through the medium of his secretary, Lord Stanforth, the King came to London and without further delay conferred the premiership to Mr. Baldwin, who accepted.

That a man comparatively new to politics thus comes to the first position in the nation's councils, passing over well-tried and experienced statesmen like Marquis Curzon and the Earl of Balfour, indicates the change which is taking place on the political stage with the rise for the first time in the country's history of the Labor party to the position of His Majesty's Opposition in Parliament.

Of necessity, the Labor party is not represented in the House of Lords unless the presence of peers like Lord Haldane, who has gone very peacefully with the Labor party, and is looked upon as one of the certain ministers should the Labor party in the near future be in a position to form a government, may be said to give Labor a slight standing in the upper chamber. It was this fact of no representation of Labor in the Lords which ruled Curzon out as a possible premier, in the opinion of the majority of the Conservative leaders.

The present Opposition in the House of Commons is the most energetic and vigorous Parliament has had in many years, and it is felt necessary that the first minister of state must be in the Commons to meet the attacks of this Opposition.

The new prime minister, like his predecessor, has graduated from trade and, also like Mr. Bonar Law, from the iron trade. THE PASS IN FLOODS

For the past twenty-four hours the Pass has experienced a continuous rainstorm resulting in extremely high water and considerable damage. Early this morning rivers began to rise and in a few hours were overflowing their banks. At Coleman, particularly in what is known as Bush Town, all homes were surrounded by water and quite a number of smaller buildings were swept away from their foundations. In a Creek at Blairmore, early started on its old-time pranks and was soon traveling over prohibitive territory. Many gardens throughout the Pelletier district were swept away, several small buildings were upturned, while logs trees and stumps swept down in a great mass. The C. P. R. bridge stood the test well, as also did the home-made bridge crossing State St., but the new "government" bridge on Victoria Street soon became undermined and collapsed. This bridge was completed last fall by an outside contractor on plans submitted and approved by the department of public works, at a cost of nearly four thousand dollars. The bridge was of cement construction, reinforced with steel. Contractor Pozzi was an unsuccessful bidder for the job.

The waters from Lyon Creek took a course straight across town, and for a time it was feared that many people would have to leave their homes for higher levels, but early in the afternoon the floods subsided and by nightfall all danger from this creek had passed.

The Old Man River was also on the rampage, but locally did little damage. Along the Bellevue flats considerable damage was done, particularly to small buildings.

Gold Creek, at Frank, caused considerable worry, and the C. P. R. were obliged to use scores of shovels of dynamite to keep the way for the torrents clear. Great masses of trees and stumps are piled high on both sides of the railroad at this point, and the road was soon in an impassable condition. The morning's westbound train had to stall near Hillcrest and not likely to get through here for a day or two.

It is estimated that the damage to roads and bridges within the town limits of Blairmore will amount to about $10,000.

As we go to press, it is still raining, and there is danger from the Old Man River, which seems to be still on the rise.

Oldtimers state that the floods were the worst experienced in twenty years in this district.

Owing to the extreme water pressure the water from the reservoir was cut off this morning to lighten the burden on the mains through town. Owing to some mishap along the western line of the B. C. and Alberta Power Co., the electric service had to be cut off during the day.

At Coleman the operation of the mines had to be temporarily suspended, owing to an inflow of water, but it is expected that work will resume in a day or two.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

(By Our Own-Dear Felix)

Mrs. Casagrande is progressing as well as can be expected from her recent operation.

Albert Matthews, Hillcrest's famous outside right, is expected back ready to play about the first of June.

The recent football match between Calgary and Hillcrest, resulted in a win for Calgary of 5 to 1. The score by no means indicated the play, as Hillcrest gave them all they wanted, scoring the first goal. The wretched state of the ground was against good football. Quite a number were down from Coleman to see their pets at play. Since this game the secretary of the local club has received inquiries from five of the Bolton Wanderers team, winners of the English cup.

After a long schooling with "Henry," Ed. Royle has been promoted to the Oldsmobile.

The visit of Mr. Phelps, of the provincial health department, caused quite a flutter amongst the residents, especially in the upper part of the town. It is his intention to pay another visit in the near future to see how conditions are progressing.

Quite a few old timers have put in an appearance since work started up again, notably Paddy Kennedy. The first round for the U. M. W. of A. cup was played at Hillcrest on May 24th with Coleman.

A visit to Bellevue, at the King's pleasure, will likely cause a number of bicycle owners to attach bells or horns to their machines. Several narrow escapes have been reported lately, which might have had serious consequences.

NOTICE

ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN will please take notice that I shall not hereafter be liable for the payment of any bills or accounts contracted by my wife, Leopoldine Hencon.

The recent issue of the Alberta Gazette contains 241 pages of advertising under the Tax Recovery Act, affecting all corners of this province. Newspapers throughout the province have been deprived of any such advertising, to which in all fairness to people whose monies are invested in the various districts served by the newspapers they are justly entitled. On the other hand, there is nothing fair nor reasonable in the present system, for the Alberta Gazette does not reach more than an average of three or four subscribers in each of the towns of the province, and is not naturally not seen by even one per cent of the parties interested in the lands against which action is being taken.

ARMSTRONG ACQUITTED

WILL APPEAL AGAINST CONVICTION

J. W. McDonald, K.C., will represent a Granum farmer named Elmer Clark in an appeal against the judgment handed down by Magistrate Gresham for an alleged breach of the Alberta Liquor Act. The premises of Clark were being searched by Corporal Hudson, of the A. P. P., and Inspector of Brands Prestwich. The search was for hides, but during the search of the premises a bottle containing a small quantity of alcohol or liquor, was located, also what appeared to be a portion of a mash. Clark was charged under the Liquor Act and was declared guilty and assessed the sum of $200 and costs. In behalf of Clark, who is a poor farmer, Mr. McDonald will enter appeal, based upon the grounds that the officers had no warrant to search the premises for liquor.

Clark is one of the most highly respected residents of the district.

Dr. R. K. Lillie, of Blairmore, and A. M. Morrison, W. Bennett and H. McLeod, of Coleman, made a trip to Calgary last week to attend a meeting of the Shriners.
